Work permits

Securing a work permit

EU citizens benefit from bilateral agreements that enable them to enter Switzerland and change their employer or place of residence. Exceptions to this are citizens of Bulgaria and Romania, for whom there are still restrictions. Citizens of non-member countries are only granted a work permit if they are highly specialised and meet an economic need. All foreign nationals must have a residence and work permit before starting work. You can apply for this at the residents' registration office (Einwohnerkontrolle) of your municipality.
