Where the focus is on quality of life.

It's well worth taking a closer look at this canton in the south-west of Switzerland, where work and relaxation are in incredibly close proximity to one another. And unlike the urban centres such as Zurich or Geneva, Valais stands out for its low cost of living. The excellent public transport connections with the rest of Switzerland and Europe ensure maximum mobility with short travel times. Town or country? The canton is both starting point and retreat – dynamic and relaxing in equal measure.

Living in harmony with nature.

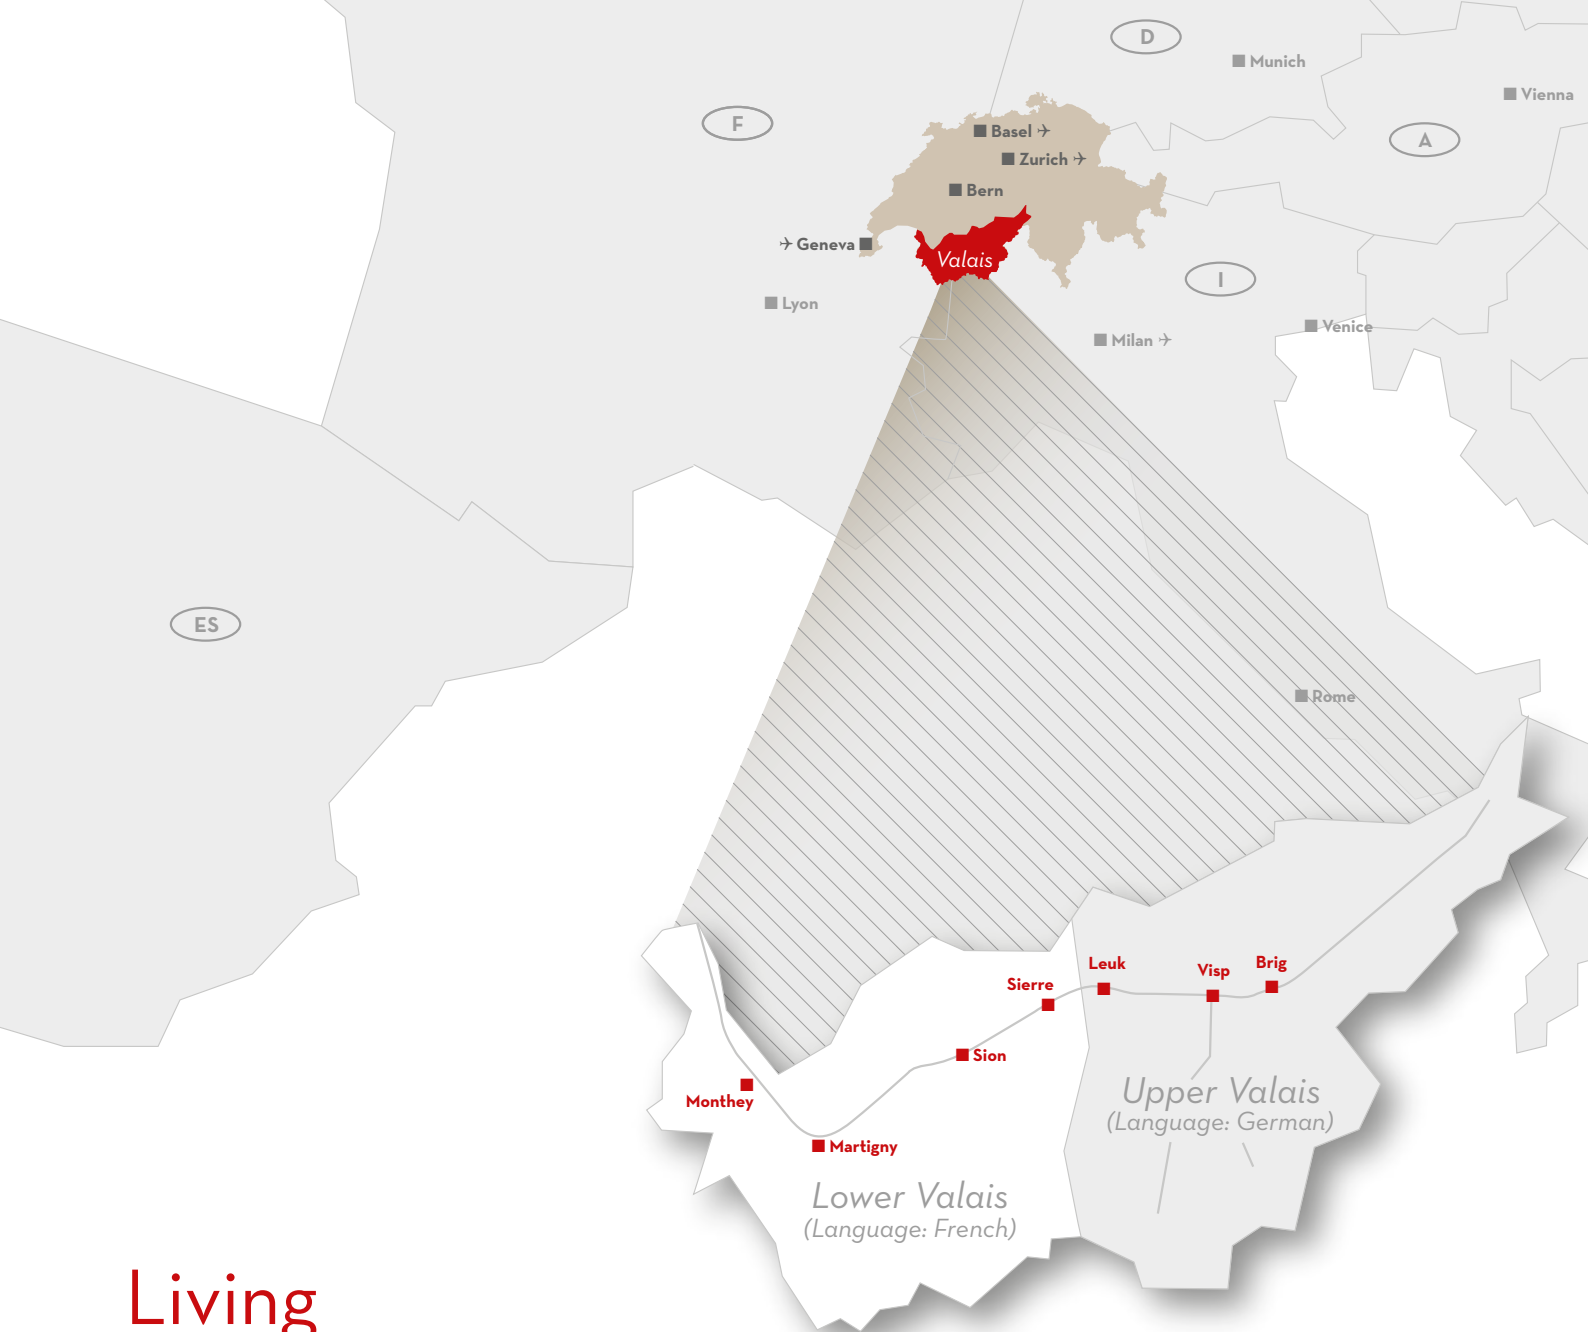

Yes, it's true – our canton is often called the sun centre of Switzerland, and for good reason. The dry, mild climate brings the Valais population an average of 300 days' sunshine per annum. Mediterranean summers, snow-white winters, glorious spring flowers and spectacular autumn displays – experience the seasons here in all nature's colourful glory. And there are some unique features, such as the Aletsch glacier, the longest Alpine glacier and heart of the UNESCO Swiss Alps Jungfrau-Aletsch World Heritage Site, an incredible variety of flowering plants, and 45 spectacular mountains over 4,000 metres high, including the distinctive Matterhorn. Unlimited variety for relaxation and outdoor sports!

Innovation and progress in the heart of the mountains.

The Alps, mountains, forests, meadows – Valais lives from its landscape and its expertise in making the most of it. The variety of natural resources and the unspoilt natural landscape are also essential assets for tourism, one of the most important contributors to the economy. A strong energy industry uses the huge water reserves in the mountains for environmentally-friendly electricity generation. Valais is home to large, internationally-active companies such as the Lonza pharma and chemical group in Visp and DSM in Lalden, Synthes (medical technology) in Raron and the Bosch works (power tools) in St. Niklaus, as well as numerous SMEs operating within a wide variety of sectors including commerce, industry, construction and agriculture – a lively economic structure with a mix of tradition and innovation.

Living in Valais.

Demography

- > A population of around 300,000 (80,000 in Upper Valais, around 36,000 of whom are in the Brig-Visp-Naters agglomeration)
- > Above-average population growth, especially in regional centres
- > Cantonal capital: Sion
- > Language:
68% French, 24% German
(predominantly in German-speaking Upper Valais), 8% others

Climate and geography

- > Plenty of sunshine: the surrounding Valais and Bernese Alps make the Rhone Valley one of Europe's driest valleys, and with 300 days of sunshine per annum it is the sun centre of Switzerland
- > A breathtaking mountain landscape with 45 peaks over 4,000 metres
- > The "water tower of Switzerland": 80% of Swiss glaciers are on Valais soil

Mobility

- > A reliable public transport network provides the towns and villages with an excellent infrastructure
- > Convenient connections ensuring short travel times to the rest of Switzerland and beyond (including to airports in Zurich, Geneva and Milan)
- > Journey times from Visp (by rail):
Bern 55 mins, Zurich 2 hrs, Geneva 2.5 hrs, Zermatt 1 hr, Milan 2 hrs
- > 30 mins to the ski slopes
- > Less than 4 hours to the Mediterranean

In the background, there are several large trees with thick trunks, and the sky is bright with some clouds. The overall lighting is warm and natural.

Safe and secure living.

Switzerland is an affluent country and its salary levels are correspondingly high. The gross salaries are among the highest in Europe, while the social security contributions and taxes are considerably lower than those of, say, Germany.

Employees can depend on an outstanding social welfare system, which guarantees financial support for situations ranging from unemployment and accidents at work to retirement. These are not the only things which make Valais such an appealing place to work. The varied, affordable housing stock, the low cost of living, the relaxing natural surroundings, the Valais blend of deep-rooted belonging and dynamism... We have our own currency – 100 percent quality of life!

Idyllic surroundings with plenty going on.

The decision on where to base yourself involves a lot of factors and needs careful consideration. The benefits of cities are different from those offered by rural areas, and both are combined in Valais. Reliable, efficient transport networks mean that urban centres are within easy reach, while the natural world, with all its opportunities for relaxation, is on the doorstep. Valais is a place that gives you peace and quiet to concentrate on living.

More life at a lower cost.

Salaries and living costs vary within Switzerland. This means it is always worth making sure you do your research thoroughly – after all, it is what you have left at the end of the month that counts. And in this regard the regions vary widely – urban centres of population may offer attractive high salaries, but at the same time the cost of living there is incredibly high. Zurich and Geneva are among the most expensive cities in the world, with their property costs, health insurance premiums, taxes, childcare costs... A detailed comparison shows that a family in Valais has more net disposable income than in most other parts of Switzerland.

Net disposable income in Switzerland

RDI indicator* 2016

Valais communes have a high net disposable income, while the population of the major centres of Zurich, Basel, Bern, Lausanne or Geneva are those with the least left in their pockets for spending.

* The RDI (Regional Disposable Income) indicator measures net disposable income taking account of all compulsory taxes and contributions, location-specific fixed costs, childcare expenses and the cost of commuting to the nearest centre. The higher the RDI indicator, the higher the net disposable income.

A paradise for families.

Nowhere can give an absolute guarantee of happiness, but when it comes to your family, how much value do you place on being close to nature, where they can put down roots in a safe environment? The family is close to the hearts of the people of Valais – and not only emotionally. The canton of Valais leads the way in supporting young families: no other canton gives higher family allowances, and nowhere else do working families who need childcare have such a good standard of living. A rapidly growing provision of childcare facilities in Upper Valais, with 16 daycare centres already established in central locations, ensures that career and childcare can be effortlessly combined.

Allow your children to play out in carefree safety. Valais offers your kids space to live and play as suits them. So, out to play!

Great prospects for old and young.

Varied and multilingual – the Valais education system covers all levels, from primary school to a University of Applied Sciences, with excellent schools coverage. Short travelling distances mean that children enjoy more freedom, independence and safety. Valais students only have to leave the canton if they wish to go to university – and the outstanding transport facilities keep travel times down even then; the University of Bern is just an hour away by train. Valais is a bilingual canton, and the Upper Valais schools give special attention to the teaching of French and English as a second language from primary school level. With a broad-based primary education, a choice of secondary and vocational schools and a wide range of adult and further education, Upper Valais is the place to learn!

Child benefits in comparison with the other cantons

■ Child benefits for children up to and including 16 years of age (legal minimum CHF 200 per child per month)

■ Education allowances for children in education from 16 to 25 years of age, inclusive (legal minimum CHF 250 per child per month)

■ From the third child

The family allowances of the canton of Valais are the highest in Switzerland – child benefits are CHF 275 per month (CHF 375 from the third child) and allowances for young people in education aged 16-25 are CHF 425 (CHF 525 from the third child). In addition, the canton of Valais gives young families the most generous support, with a one-off CHF 2,000 birth or adoption allowance (CHF 3,000 per child in the case of multiple births).

*Most of the other cantons in Switzerland pay the legal minimum. Detailed information can be obtained from the cantonal AHV (social security and pensions) offices.

A place that bustles with life.

What do you imagine a family paradise to be like? Plenty of scope for relaxation on the doorstep? A large, widely varied range of leisure facilities? Then we have what you're looking for – in Valais you will find every imaginable kind of leisure and sports facilities for young and old, all within easy reach – whether outdoors, under cover, in mountains or valleys. The real feel for unity and community among the Valais population is reflected in the range of lively associations. A wealth of clubs and societies offer a wide choice of activities covering sports, the arts, theatre, folklore, culture, music and more.

Fascinating people with deep roots and warm hearts.

You don't have to worry about culture shock, but a little advance information on the Valais ways won't do any harm - as well as their local dialect, "Walliser-deutsch", Valais people are characterised by their down-to-earth outlook and sociability, kindness and strength of character. They also love to keep their traditions and customs alive; these include colourful carnival celebrations, Alpine festivals and cow fighting. The lively arts and cultural scene is also enriched by a number of large and small venues, and a wide range of exhibitions and events.

A warm, golden-hour photograph of a group of friends gathered around a dining table in a rustic wooden cabin. A man in the foreground is pouring white wine from a bottle into a glass. Other people are seated around the table, some holding glasses and smiling. The table is set with white plates, glasses, and a red patterned cloth. A large window in the background lets in bright sunlight, creating a cozy and inviting atmosphere. The word "AMONG" is overlaid in the center in a large, white, sans-serif font.

AMONG

Body and soul in harmony.

Beautiful views and surroundings – as an outdoor sports paradise Valais attracts thousands of enthusiasts to its fantastic mountain landscape in summer and winter. The people of Valais are passionate about sport and love open-air activities – among them hiking, climbing, downhill skiing and ski touring, mountain biking, cycling, snowshoeing, or simply relaxing in the soothing thermal spas. Spiritual needs are as well-catered for as physical ones – variety is the spice of life!

Those who feel the call of the city from time to time can soon reach the rest of Switzerland or neighbouring countries thanks to Valais' central location. The excellent public transport networks enable museum visits in Zurich, concerts in Geneva or shopping trips in Milan to be enjoyed at any time.

A passion for the finer things in life.

Do you know about Valais wines? Almost half of all Swiss wines come from our sun-kissed canton, such as the fruity Valais white, Fendant, or the fine Pinot Noir from the red wine capital of Salgesch. With a wealth of traditional local specialities, Valais is capable of surprising even the keenest wine connoisseurs. When both the wine and the food are perfectly suited to the occasion, you know you are in the heart of culinary Valais. A creamy, melting raclette, spiced dried meat with tasty rye bread and regional delicacies such as the Goms Cholera Pie are as prized as the Mund saffron used to flavour the traditional local risotto. Genuine origin-protected products carry a part of authentic Valais within them. The Valais gastronomy, whose hosts include a number of renowned top chefs, is there to be seen and tasted. Enjoy!
